accept nocookie traffic

I am trying to understand more about the accept nocookie traffic option for a trade, and what happens if it clicked. I have only been taking it off for traders who are high in cookies, but I do not want to credit for any cookies and redirect all cookies out, which is turned on. I just do not know if having this enabled keeps it from being redirected.

And, why is this forum discussion box only 25 characters wide?

Accept nocookie traffic in trader edit box means that script will send nocookie traffic to that trader. If you turn it off - FTT will not send nocookie traffic to that trader.
